HARDING'S TARIFF FIAT TO SENATE AIDS BONUS FOES

Feel That While Bonus May Have Majority, Veto Is Mightier Than Votes.

* PRESIDENT HOLDS KEY

His Message Might Sway Enough Votes to Prevent Overriding Veto.

WASHINGTON, June 23 (Copyright).-President Harding's assertion of leadership during the past week, in persuading the Senate not to side track the Tariff Hill for the bonus of the bonus that Mr. Harding's vete message will have a much more powerful effect on Senatorial opinion that was at first anticipated.

There are those on Capitol Hill who mistakenly believe Mr. Harding wil sign the Bonus Bill. Senator James Watson of Indiana so predicted in a public speech which has never been specifically contradicted, and mem-bers of Congress are assuming that the Indiana leader wouldn't have Investigation shows that if the bill were to come to the President to-day Mr. Watson would be proved a bad prophet. For the President is detercorrespondent has been assured positively on this point that all doubts may be dismissed.

Mr. Harding stands squarely on the position he took when the bill was up in the House. He favors postpone ment of the bonus if a sales tax is not enacted. The measure pending in the Senate doesn't provide a sales tax and is practically the same as the measure which passed the House

Mr. Harding wants it understood that he isn't opposed to the bonus in principle. He favors compensation to the soldiers and sailors who fought in the late war, but insists the Government finances are not in shape for a expenditure on the bonus.

Representatives of the ex-service men know, however, that if they lose the fight now, they will have scan chance for another year or two to re vive the issue successfully, for a defi cit of $340,000,000, which may grow to a half billion dollars, stares the Government in the face for the fiscal year beginning the first of next month and anding June 30, 1923.

Government finances are such of wide differences of opinion and interpretation. Those members of the Senate who are fighting in favor of an immediate bonus take a much more roseate view of the condition of the Treasury than do the officials of the Treasury. The latter, however, with the President, believe all effort

HITCHCOCK SAYS TARIFF BILL WILL FOSTER MONOPOLY

Declares Real Purpose Is to Shut Out Imports in Many Lines.

CALLS IT STUPIDITY

Attacks Claim That It Necessary to Curb German Trade,

WASHINGTON, June 22 (Asso ciated Press) .- The prediction that another era of trust formation would follow passage of the Administration Tariff Bill was made to-day in the Senate by Senator Hitchcock, Democrat, Nebraska. He charged that the real purpose of the measure was to shut out imports in many commodities and give a monopoly to favored nanufacturers so that they could increase prices at the expense of the American consumers.

Declaring that the great shrinkage the country's International trade the past two years was largely esponsible for the present widespread depression over the country, the Nebraska Senator said a policy of further restricting that trade was nothing less than stupidity."

Senator Hitchcock called attention which American commerce was improving was Germany, and argued directed against trade from that

"For the ten months ending with April this year our imports from Germany were almost exactly the same as they were for the ten months endhig with April last year-slightly in excess of $77,000,000. Imports from Germany at the present time are less than half what they were before the

"These figures show how false the claim is that we are in any danger from a great inundation of German goods at prices with which our manufacturers cannot compete. As a matter of fact, it is unfortunate that Germany has not been able to send us more of her products. That would have made it possible for her to purchase more of our products.

"Undoubtedly the German Govern-That is the only way in which she can get gold with which to meet her enormous obligations. But in splte of her great efforts—with subsidies to railroads to get cheap freight, with depreciated currency to make labor cheap and every device to hold down the cost of living-Germany has not succeeded in stimulating her exports more than enough to make them one-third what they were before the war. How, preposterous, therefore, to assert that higher tariffs are necessary to check a flood of German imports!"

After Fifty Years Teaching in New York Public Schools Miss Kate M. Stephens Retires

Principal Regretful That She Is to Leave "Best Schools in the World."

By Fay Stevenson. After spending fifty years of her ife in the public schools of this city. Miss Kate M. Stephens, Principal of Public School No. 135, at 51st Street and First Avenue, is to retire this month and enjoy the rest of her life as she pleases. But Miss Stephens is not especially elated at even the prospect of living in a brand new cottage which she has purchased in New Rochelle, because she loves children and school life.

For the last fifteen years she has been principal of P. S. 135, and with a smile on her lips she exclaims that every moment in that school has been a pleasant one.

"I think teaching is a woman's nat ural vocation," this sweet-faced, blue-eyed woman said in her office, a she smoothed out the folds of her black and white crepe dress and arranged a string of dark blue beads 'In my day teaching was about the only occupation open to women, but, despite the many fields now open to them, I still think teaching is the most interesting and fascinating

"I was born in New York City, b the section which was known as the the fact that the only country with old Seventh Ward," continued Miss Stephens, "and it was quite a fashionable section in that day. 'Just fifty years ago, it has been intimated, the politicians ran the school quite a little," it was suggested to Miss Stephens.

"Perhaps they did, but I never knew any politicians in my life," she said, with a little toss of her head as she added, "we had local school boards even in those days and I want to say that Jacob T. Miss Stephens looks longingly around her office which will be hers no longer, and while she is planning to rest and do exactly as she pleases in that New Rochelle cottage, she says she will never forget those years of experience among the girls and boys of this city.
